PAWS ACROSS PITTSBURGH

Q: What do you call Carrie at home now?

A: Betty Goblin

Q: What's it like having a Puppy Bowl star in your home?

A: We have been watching for over a decade, so when we were told she might be a contender, it was the cherry on top of the sweetest gift ever.

Q: Has the fame gone to her head yet?

A: Betty is smart and savage rather than smart and sassy like Carrie.

Q: Does she know that she's famous, or does she still act like a normal puppy?

A: She knows she has an edge. She struts on the trail in front of the other doggies.

Q: Any "diva behavior" we should know about?

A: She will bark or cry to get your attention, especially to help her up onto the bed or to throw her toy skunk.

Q: How does she prepare for game day?

A: She goes twice a day to the local trails. She warms up with some down-dogs and hurdles lots of tree stumps. She stays hydrated by drinking from the stream.

Q: Who is her biggest fan at home?

A: It's not the cat. Probably her older sister.

Q: Any special pre-game rituals?

A: She spins around in circles and likes to be pumped up with pushing and shoving.

Q: Be honest — is she playing for the trophy or the treats?

A: Definitely treats.

Q: What's her biggest strength on the field?

A: Agility and the ability to run through small spaces.

Q: What might get her benched (if anything)?

A: Ankle biting.

Q: If she gave a post-game speech, who would she thank?

A: Whoever has the biggest treat.

Q: What's something fans don't know about Carrie/Betty?

A: Behind her good looks, she has an impressive IQ.

Q: What's her most impressive move (intentional or not)?

A: Sneak attack.

Q: Has anything in your house been "injured" during training camp?

A: Of course — multiple flower pots, expensive bracelets, and an Apple AirTag.

Q: How are you feeling about game day?

A: Excited but nervous. She looks so little compared to the other dogs, and I hope we get to see her having a good time.

Q: Any message for their fans watching the Puppy Bowl?

A: Don't ever be afraid to step out of your comfort zone and try something you may not be good at. You've gotta live your best life every day!
